

Lough Na Leibe

Written by Keith

Friday, 27 April 2012 16:39 - Last Updated Tuesday, 26 April 2016 22:43

Lough na Leibe is a spring fed mountain lake situated between Ballymote and Castlebaldwin. It is stocked with Rainbow and Brown Trout and is set in a beautiful, tranquil location. Lough Na Leibe offers Anglers hours of sporting fun in a club managed and well maintained Trout fishery, fishing on the lake is allowed from dawn to dusk only no night fishing.

Anglers must have a permit to fish this lake and they are available through Ballymote and District Angling Club, day ticket for adults is €25 per day and juniors under 18 is €10 per day and can be acquired at:

Henrys Gala Filling Station

Ballymote.

Accommodation is available adjacent to this fishery, contact Mary 0876953851.

The club this year has introduced a visitors permit on a weekly basis for anglers who are visiting the area on holidays at a cost of €100 per week very good value and €50 for juniors under 18. The season is now opened and runs from 01st of Feb to 30th Nov 2014 signs are posted in relation to the fishing rules and club water-keepers monitor the lake over the season. All anglers who intend to fish Lough Na Leibe from 1st February 2014 should have their membership renewed and all Coarse Anglers who intend to fish the coarse matches starting on 13/04/2014 on Ballinascarrow lake must have their membership renewed by that date.